The Asian Association of Police Studies is an international organization embracing scholarly, scientific, practical and professional knowledge concerning policing and crime control. This includes the evaluation and development of police system and activities, legislation and practice of criminal law, as well as the law enforcement, judicial and correctional systems.

The Association's objective is to bring together a multidisciplinary forum fostering study, research, and education on policing issues. Its members include practitioners, academicians, and students in the many fields of criminal justice.

The Association conducts annual conferences, each devoted to a discussion of a particular topic of general interest. The 1st conference was held in August 2000 at the National Police University of Korea, the 2nd in August 2001 at the Central Police University of Chinese Taipei, the 3rd in August 2002 at the Open University of Hong Kong and the 4th AAPS Annual Conference was held in December 2003 again at the National Police University of Korea. The 5th conference was held in August 2004 at Sam Houston State University in Texas, USA. The 6th annual conference was held in China in the Summer of 2005. The 7th annual conference was held in Bangkok, Thailand in 2005. The 8th annual conference was held in Korea in October 2007, and the 9th was in Louisiana, USA. The 10th AAPS annual conference will be held in Chinese Taipei during the 3rd week of September.

Members will receive the AAPS journal, due to be published once a year.

We cordially invite you to join with us in the objectives of the Association, and to become a member.
